Respected Sir / Madam,
 Your abstract has been accepted. You are cordially invited for the two day national seminar on the topic "Six Decades of Indian Constitution: Then, Now and in Future" to be held on 2nd and 3rd March, 2018. Kindly note the following guidelines:

1. The conference is divided into various sessions. Each session will have a "Session Chair".
2. The Session Chair shall decide the time allotted for each paper presenter and the paper presenters are required to adhere to the time limits allotted by the Session Chair.
3. In case of single author papers, the sole author will have to present the paper in person.
4. In case of co authored papers, at least one of the authors should present the paper in person. The paper presenter should be preferably the teacher.
5. All the paper presenters are requested NOT TO READ the papers. They are required to explain the views and ideas to the audience in a critical way.
6. Presentation of the papers by using powerpoint slides is preferred. Paper presenters are required to get their power-point files in a pen drive to the venue.
7. The decision of the respective session chair should be respected. In case of dispute, the decision of the Conference Director shall be final.
8. NO Travel Allowance / Dearness Allowance will be provided to the paper presenters. However, two days moderate lodging and boarding facilities will be provided.

Your co-operation is solicited. For any clarification, please feel free to contact us.

Thanking you,

Yours Faithfully,

Dr. Ramesh

BACKGROUND:

On 26th January 1950, we adopted and gave ourselves a written Constitution that assured equality to all. Thus, the Constitution became the cornerstone of our Nation and basic vision document for all the endeavors of the State. The Constitution of India has laid down the powers of the different organs of the State and its relation to its citizens. The citizens are assured certain Fundamental Rights which are in conformity with the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. The State cannot make any laws that violate the Fundamental Rights of the citizens. However, the conflicts between various stakeholders are bound to arise. Such conflicts have been adjudicated by the Supreme Court of India by interpreting the Constitution. The Supreme Court has been hailed as the guardian of the Constitution and Fundamental Rights in India. The philosophy of 'Constitutionalism' has saved the Constitution from being distorted for selfish ends of vested interests.

In the past six decades, Constitution has undergone a lot of evolution. The first decade became a witness to the struggle of the Nehru Government in implementing the agrarian and land reform legislations amidst the opposition by the Judiciary. In the second decade, the squabble between the Judiciary and the Parliament continued. In the third decade, the debate of supremacy between Judiciary and Parliament culminated in the landmark decision of Kesavananda Bharathi case. The Supreme Court was criticized for its lack of commitment for Fundamental Rights and Liberty in the ADM Jabalpur case during the dark age of emergency. Post-emergency, the Supreme Court took up the progressive step of Judicial Activism and expanded the Fundamental Rights by giving a wider interpretation and was hailed as the last resort for those affected with injustice. There have been criticisms also, that the Supreme Court has often usurped into the territory of the Parliament, Executive and dictated policy issues.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE:

1. To review Constitutional vision and philosophy in formulating inclusive growth and development;
2. To assess the role of Constitution in advocating distributive and corrective justice;
3. To re-asses the Constitutional & legislative reforms in implementing inclusive development; and
4. To suggest new strategies and tools for making inclusive social, economic and political justice accessible to the common man.

Sub themes:

1. Right to Equality: A perceptive view for justifying the Inequalities
2. Right to Equality in Matters of Education, Public Employment and among other ignored classes of the society
3. Right to Equality and Religious Rights
4. Right to Property under Indian Constitution
5. Freedom of Speech and Right to Life in different dimensions.
6. Directive Principles of State Policy and Socio-Economic and legal Rights.
7. Constitutionalism and Judicial Process in Modern India.

Principal

8. Economic Justice, Law and Social development
9. Constitutional amendments and agrarian reforms
10. Dynamics of Social Security Legislations
11. Social Welfare Legislations on Food, Health, Education Environment and Employment
12. Directive Principles of State Policy and Judicial process
13. International agreements and Indian Constitution.

"ONE DAY FACULTY ORIENTATION PROGRAMME ON CRIMINAL LAW"

2nd June, 2018

At the School of Legal Studies, CMR University, Bengaluru.

Amongst all the public law domains, Criminal Law is arguably one of the most interesting and sought after subjects. It is also a law that is highly relevant to society and social wellbeing, ever changing to accommodate, bolster and motivate social change. At present, criminal law in India is undergoing an extremely significant phase of transformation in order to meet the challenges posed by rapidly changing socio-economic and political conditions. Criminal acts have transformed in ways alien to us before. Information and technology have enabled a new breed of criminals, educated and intelligent. The economic impact of privileged class crime has left our financial institutions looking weak and uninspiring. However, the most shocking and alarming of all is the rise in crimes of a heinous nature being committed against women and children. In response, new laws have been forged, existing laws have been strengthened and important judgements have been pronounced.

These recent events have triggered the need for prompt and effective change in the way criminal justice is administered in India. New proposals, policy changes and laws have been introduced to help alleviate the problems caused by these new evils. The Criminal Law (Amendment) Ordinance, 2018, the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, 2012 and the amendments made to IPC, Criminal Procedure Code (CrPc) and Evidence Act are some of the laws that have been amended in the recent past.

Therefore, we may say that it is most appropriate to review and reorient not only our understanding of the subject matter involved, but also the various methodologies and approaches adopted by contemporary teachers of criminal law. Furthermore, as a compulsory subject for all undergraduate law programmes, it is imperative that every teacher understands the subject from a more contemporary and critical perspective.

Renowned and eminent resource persons will participate in the event. The CMRU School of Legal Studies will extend training and guidance to university/college teachers and researchers working in Law Colleges and Law Schools across the country. In light of the same we propose to organize a one day faculty orientation programme on the 2nd June, 2018, at the Campus of the School of Legal Studies, CMR University, Bengaluru.

Programme Description

The programme will take place at Campus of the School of Legal Studies, CMR University, Bengaluru on 2nd June, 2018. A detailed programme schedule indicating the names of the resource persons will be e-mailed to all the participants on or before 26th May, 2018. Law teachers, teaching criminal law, from various law universities/colleges across the country, are expected to participate in the programme. Apart from the teachers, a few research scholars from recognised university and students may also attend the programme. At the end of the programme, Certificates of Participation will be issued to all participants.

About the Seminar

JSS LAW COLLEGE, Autonomous, Mysuru is organizing a Two Day National Seminar on "Research in Law – Approaches and Techniques" on 7th & 8th April 2017 at JSS Law College. This Seminar is intended to provide a platform for enriching the ideas on research in law & its implementation. Legal research is the process of identifying and retrieving information necessary to support legal decision-making. Legal research is generally the process of finding an answer to a legal question or checking for legal precedent that can be cited in a brief or at trial. The stake holders of the programme include the faculty members, students / research scholars of Law and Social Science discipline. Hence, we request your good self to depute faculty members & students from your institution to participate in the two days deliberations. The participants who are willing to contribute their ideas in the form of paper presentations are requested to submit their papers on various themes relating to the Research in Law.

Theme of the Seminar:

'Research', in simple terms, can be defined as a 'systematic investigation towards increasing the sum of human knowledge' and as a 'process' of identifying and investigating a 'fact' or a 'problem'. It is conducted with a view to acquire an insight or to find an apt solution to the pertaining subject. An approach becomes systematic when a researcher follows certain scientific methods.

In this context, legal research may be defined as 'systematic' finding law on a particular point and making advancement in the science of law. However, finding law is not so easy. It involves a systematic search of legal materials, statutory, subsidiary and judicial pronouncements. For making advancement in the science of law, one needs to go into the 'underlying principles or reasons of law'. These activities warrant a systematic approach. An approach becomes systematic when a researcher follows scientific method. Generally, Law is influenced by the prevailing social values and ethos. Most of the times, Law also attempts to mould or change the existing social values and attitudes. Such a complex nature of Law and its operation require systematic approach to the 'understanding' of 'law' and its 'operational facets'. A systematic investigation into these aspects of Law helps in knowing the existing and emerging legislative policies, laws, their social relevance and efficacy. In this backdrop, the present seminar on "Research in Law – Approaches and Techniques" intends to acquaint the students, academicians and other fraternity of Law with scientific methods of inquiry. It also intends to make them familiar with the nature, scope, and significance of legal research. In addition, it endeavours to make them aware of role of legal research in the development of Law and legal institutions, in particular and socio-economic development of the country in general. With these objectives, the course addresses to sources, categories and types of legal research. It focuses on legal research methods and tools. It highlights different dimensions, tools of doctrinal legal research, non-doctrinal legal research and socio-legal research. In other words, the seminar strives to instil in the fraternity of Law, basic skill of identifying research problems, planning and executing legal research projects and of appreciating the problems associated therewith.

Call for papers: The participants are requested to contribute their articles in the following themes, which are illustrative but not exhaustive.

1. Reflective thinking on Legal Research- Prospective Analysis
2. Socio Legal Research- Hurdles and Pitfalls
3. Implications of Hypothesis in Legal Research
4. Use of library in Legal Research approach
5. Identification and formulation of Research Problem
6. Doctrinal and Non-Doctrinal Legal Research- Its impact and purposefulness
7. Empirical Research in contemporary times
8. Research in Law Reforms
9. Implications and Impacts of Case studies in Legal Research
10. Writing of Research Thesis
11. Legal Research Techniques and Ideas
